

Worldwide Aerospace Distributor – Trusted Support

Manufacturers choose Simtech to distribute their parts because they trust our people, tools, expertise, and commitment. Located in East Granby, Connecticut, surrounded by globally recognized manufacturers, Simtech distributes thousands of parts annually.

Simtech has a professional staff with decades of experience who provide logistical services: inventory management, sales, packing, export declarations, and license applications. Simtech supplies parts to foreign allied governments, OEMs, repair stations, and the US Government.

Simtech exhibits at international airshows and domestic trade shows and visits its customers worldwide.

If you seek a distributor with an excellent reputation, thirty-five years of operational experience, family owned and operated, and focused on relationships, sales, and performance, Simtech is a perfect choice. Simtech partners with OEMs and manufacturers to maintain inventory, analyze demand, and forecast needs.

We look forward to distributing your components, streamlining your production and sales, and offering superior customer service.
